THE Numb. 42.

VIRGINIA GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtick.

From Friday, May 13, to Friday, May 20, 1737.

Mr. Parks,

IF you think the following unpoliſh'd Thoughts worth a Place in your Paper, your inſerting them will oblige ſeveral of your Readers, as well as,

Your humble Servant, H. C.

AS this is the Time of the Year, naturally exciting Love, and making the Society of the fair Sex more agreeable than any Time of the Year elſe; I mean, Love being now ſeaſonable on the Matrimonial Terms, the moſt ſure and happy Ground of earthly Felicity, the Spring of all endearing Tenderneſs and Affection, and the great Point of Property, which the Supreme Mind has inſtituted for theſe great and good Ends; I therefore offer theſe following Rules, for the Advancement of Matrimonial Felicity, to the Conſideration of the fair Sex.

Altho' Nature has bleſs'd Woman with an alluring Eye, ſweet Voice, and beautiful Countenance, whereby they may win the Love of Man; yet, the moſt proper Method to obtain a good Husband, is, to be Good yourſelf.

Be ſure, you never entertain a Lover long, you won't marry; nor uſe him ill, whom you intend to make a Husband; leſt he either upbraid or return it: And if ever you are diſpos'd to Tyranny, mind theſe Two Lines,

Gently ſhall thoſe be rul'd, who gently ſway'd;
Abject ſhall thoſe obey, who haughty were obey'd.

Both before and after Matrimony, baniſh the leaſt Thought of Managing your Husband; don't deceive or impoſe on his Underſtanding, nor make him uneaſy, by trying his Temper; but treat him before Marriage with Sincerity, and after with Affection and Eſteem; for ſuch Women as act the Miſtreſs, and lord it over their Husbands, are odious to Mankind; and they who yield to their Subjection, no leſs deſerve to be ſo. Be not too ſanguine before Marriage, nor expect Felicity without Alloy; for its impoſſible to be had here. Conſider the Perſon you are to lead your Life with, is a Man, not an Angel: And if when married, you find in his Humour and Way, ſomething not ſo agreeable as you promis'd yourſelf, paſs it over as a Humane Frailty; compoſe your Temper, be chearful and good, ſo you'll bid fair to amend it. Always remember, what Misfortunes ſoever fall out, are not imputable to Matrimony, but to the Accidents and Infirmities common to all; a Burthen each is bound to ſupport the other in, and whereunto both are equally liable. Don't murmur or reflect, which makes the Weight more hard to be born, but rather willingly put your Shoulder to the Yoke, and both will find it eaſy. Every Morning put on a Reſolution of being good-natur'd, and chearful for the Day; and, if any Thing happen that may break it, let it not ſo far prevail, as to put you out of Humour with every Thing elſe, and above all with your Husband: When he inclines to be merry, don't you frown; nor be jocund, when you know him full of Buſineſs, Care, and Trouble; for the one ſhews a froward Temper, and the other a Diſregard of his Affection.

Never diſpute with him, whatever be the Occaſion; but rather than riſque a Quarrel, or create a Heart-burning, (of which it's hard to know the End) forego the trifling Satisfaction of having your own Will, or the Better of an Argument: And if any Altercations or Jars happen, don't ſeparate the Bed, whereby the Animoſity will ſooner ceaſe.

As the Woman's Power and Happineſs is founded on the Love and Eſteem of her Husband, (which without doubt it's her Intereſt to preſerve and increaſe) ſtudy his Temper, regulate your own, enjoy his Comfort with him, ſooth his Cares, and by no Means diſcloſe his Imperfections, or let the moſt intimate Friend know your Grievances; otherways you expoſe yourſelf to be laugh'd at, and the Enemies of your Honour may ſollicit you to unlawful Pleaſures. Read often the Matrimonial Service, and overlook not the Important Word OBEY. When you pray, be ſure to put up a Word for Grace, to make a good Wife, and ſtoutly reſolve to do your beſt toward it.

Ever wear the Wedding-Ring, for in it is more Virtue than many apprehend: If your Temper ſhould be ſuddenly ruffled, and you adviſ'd to decline Duty, and injure your Husband in the tendereſt Part, look upon it, mind who gave it, where you receiv'd it, and what paſs'd at the Solemn Occaſion.

As the Moon, the farther it's from the Sun ſhines the brighter, and the nearer the more obſcurely; ſo ſome bad Wives deal by their Husbands, who can be hearty and gay enough in their Abſence; but when they appear, become ſorrowful, and are penſive; but the good Wife never viſits, nor receives any that may make her Husband uneaſy. Avoid Goſſiping abroad; for tho' the Society of ſome few may be agreeable, yet ſuch Meetings are too often attended with ill Conſequences, being not only expenſive, but alſo deſtructive to the Character of Neighbours, who happen not to be of the ſame Claſs; by which Means your Husband, as well as yourſelf gets ill-will, and the Injury is ſome time or other retorted home upon you.

If you care for your own Eaſe, and Husband's Eſteem, then in your Deſires and Expences duly regard his Circumſtances, by being modeſt in Apparel, not wearing every coſtly Trinket Cuſtom may permit. In ſhort, as Women are born for Virtue, that you may perform the Duty of a Wife to the Purpoſe, you muſt ſtrive to humour the Partner of your Boſom in every Thing, and love him above the Creation; you muſt be patient, prudently manage your Houſe, well skill'd in Huswifery, and careful in bringing up Children; hoſpitable to Strangers, civil to Neighbours, love honeſt Company, and abhor the Levity of Youth. Whoever ſtrictly adheres to theſe Rules, will equally promote the Honour of Marriage, and the Glory of the Fair Sex.

Theſe Rules being, in a great Meaſure, ſuitable for Men as well as Women, both may think of them.

PHILO-GUNAICUS.

A Paragraph of a Letter from Sallee, dated laſt June.

'AS to News, at preſent it is chiefly the Emperor's killing Baſhaw Salem, and the State Priſoners; and making it Death for any to name the Dutch or French Ambaſſadors, either for a Treaty or Redemption; and the Engliſh were never in higher Favour in Barbary.

They adviſe of the 22d, of both the Dutch and French Ambaſſadors being ſail'd from Sallee.

Muley

Muley Abdallah (Emperor of Morocco) his Letter to Baſhaw Hamet, of Tangier.

Thanks be to God;

To our Brother in the Fear of the bleſſed God, Baſhaw Hamet Ben Alley, God preſerve thee, and the Peace of God and his Bleſſings fix and attend thee.

'WE have receiv'd thy eſteem'd and elegant Letter, and know its Contents; God receive thee according to thy Loyalty; we acknowledge thy Love to us, and thy Loyal Services, and are ſatisfyed in thy Duty as thou writeſt, and we leave thee in thy Services, and renew to thee our full Power, and Favour, in what thou haſt been in, and augment it. Take Care of defending againſt the Infidels, the Proſperity of thy Government, and its Inhabitants; for we have thee in great Regard, and thou wilt be always ſatisfyed of our good Will. We know what has paſt in our abſence relating to the Infidels, and ſo would have thee take Care, and ſhall ſerve thee with all Things neceſſary. With God's leave thou art a happy Man, and it's a God that hath favour'd thee in that Poſt, and the State of thy true Religion. God preſerve thee in Grace.

Baſhaw Hamet, to whom this Letter is directed, was in the Intereſt of the late Emperor; but upon his Brother's Dethronement of him, he fled to Lisbon, and there made his Application to Sir John Norris, who receiv'd him in a very handſome Manner, ſhew'd him the Men of War, and ſent him in the Dread-nought, a 60 Gun Ship, to Gibraltar, from whence he wrote to the Emperor, whoſe Aunt he married, tendring him his beſt Service, and excuſing for his Attachment to the late Emperor. Mulley Abdallah was graciouſly pleaſed to receive him into his Favour, and to ſend him this Letter in Anſwer: And in return for Sir John Norris's Civilities, Baſhaw Hamet has made a very favourable Report of the Engliſh, who are now in the greateſt Eſteem; while the Dutch and French are not permitted to appear at his Court, nor to ſollicit for any Redemption of Slaves, or to treat for any other Buſineſs.

LONDON, Feb. 10.

This Day his Majeſty came to the Houſe of Peers, and gave the Royal Aſſent to the Bill for continuing the Duty on Malt, Mum, Cyder, &c. for the Year 1737. And to Two Naturalization Bills.

This Day the Houſe of Commons received a Meſſage from his Majeſty, ſignifying his Pleaſure, for an Appenage to their Royal Highneſſes the Prince and Princeſs of Wales, out of the Civil Liſt; and after great Debates, the Queſtion was put, To addreſs his Majeſty, to grant 100,000 l. per Annum, out of the Civil Liſt Revenue? It paſs'd in the Negative, 234 againſt 204. Afterwards the Houſe agreed to 75000 l. per Annum.

Deaths. Col. Scot of the firſt Regiment of Foot Guards.----Juſtice Newton of Milford-Lane.----Francis Newport, Eſq; in his Way to Town, from the Weſt of England.---Charles Wathford, Eſq; of Berkſhire.---Sir Robert Cowan, lately choſen Member of Parliament, in the room of John Goddard, Eſq; deceas'd. ---William Chamberlain, Eſq;---------Daviſon, Eſq; in Featherſtone Buildings, ſuddenly.---William Herriot, Eſq; formerly Captain of a Man of War.

Accidents. On Sunday a Fire broke out in the Evening, in the Veſtry of St. Mary Abchurch, in Abchurch Lane, which in a few Minutes conſum'd the ſame; but no good Account is given how this Accident came. ----Two Boats overſet in the River, but the Paſſengers ſav'd.--- -------Mills, Williamſon, and another Man, drank Gin at a Gin-ſhop, in Hoſpital Row, Chelſea, to that Degree that Mills was found dead on a Dunghill near the ſaid Houſe, and Williamſon's Life is deſpair'd of.----A Man found drown'd in the Serpentine River, in Hyde-Park.---A Man dropp'd down dead in Bow ſtreet.---Mr. Andrew Theobald riding to Wandſworth, near a Ditch, a Carman ſmack'd his Whip, which frightned his Horſe, by this Accident the young Man was thrown, and the Horſe fell upon him in the Ditch and kill'd him.----Thomas Mudd, of Carnaby Market, offering to ſit in his Wife's Lap, after a Fit of ill Humour, ſhe ſtabb'd him tho' the Back with a Knife. The Coroner's Inqueſt have brought in their Verdict Wilful Murder.----A Youth in Love, at Southwell in Nottinghamſhire, we are told, has caſtrated himſelf, for the Sake of an unkind, hard hearted Creature, but is likely to do well after the Job.

Petitions having been, ſome Time ſince, preſented to His Majeſty in Council, on Behalf of the Province of New-Jerſey, praying for a ſeparate Governor, thoſe Petitions were referred to a Committee of the Lords of Council, who were pleaſed to refer the ſame to the Lords of Trade and Plantations, who were to report their Opinion thereupon. We have obtain'd a Copy of their Report to the Lords Committee of Council; which is as follows, viz.

To the Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of his Majeſty's moſt Honourable Privy Council.

My Lords,

WE have conſidered the humble Petitions of the Preſident and Council, the Speaker, and ſeveral Members of the Aſſembly of his Majeſty's Province of New-Jerſey, of the Grand Jury of the ſaid Province, and Mr. Richard Partridge, Agent for New-Jerſey, together with two other Papers annexed to the laſt mentioned Petition, all of them referred to us by your Lordſhips, on the 14th Day of May laſt, humbly Praying, for the Reaſons therein contained, That when his Majeſty ſhall nominate a Governor for the Province of New-York, the Province of New-Jerſey may not be included in his Commiſſion; but that his Majeſty would be graciouſly pleaſed to appoint a ſeparate Governor for the ſaid Province of New-Jerſey.

We have conſidered the Reaſons given by the Petitioners, for this Separation, and upon the beſt Information we have been able to procure, We take Leave to acquaint your Lordſhips, that the Allegations of the ſeveral Petitions appear to be of great Conſequence: And we cannot doubt but that a ſeparate Governor, whom the Province is willing to ſupport, would be a Means to give a quicker Diſpatch to their Public Affairs, to increaſe their Trade, and Number of People, and very much advance the Intereſt of the Province.

Wherefore we are humbly of Opinion, that his Majeſty may be graciouſly pleaſed to comply with the Prayer of theſe Petitions. We are,

My Lords,

London, Feb. 24. On Monday Night laſt, a great Diſturbance happened at Drury-lane Play houſe, occaſioned by a great Number of Footmen, who aſſembled themſelves in a riotous and tumultuous Manner, with great Outcries of burning the Houſe, unleſs they were immediately admitted into what they call their Gallery; and in order to ſtrike a Terror, they began to hew down the Door of the Paſſage which leads to the ſaid Gallery; of which Col. De Veil, who was in the Houſe, had immediate Notice, and thereupon came out, where they were thus aſſembled, and notwithſtanding they threatened to knock his Brains out, he read the Proclamation to them, admoniſh'd them to retire, and deſiſt from ſo unlawful an Undertaking; telling them, that he came as a Friend and not as a Foe, to warn them of their Danger. This Admonition, and ſeaſonably reading the Proclamation, had its deſired Effect, for they all went off in a few Minutes after the Proclamation was read, leaving the Field of Action to The King and the Miller of Mansfield, a new Dramatic Performance, written by the Author of the Toy-Shop, which has met with great Approbation.

Boſton, Feb. 15. We have Advice from Norwich, in Connecticut, That on the 16th of January laſt, they had an exceeding great Thaw, and the Current being ſtopp'd by the Ice, the Water aroſe, in the Space of 10 Minutes, 20 Feet, whereby 3 Warehouſes were floated and carry'd off, and ſeveral Cakes of Ice were rais'd ſo high as to reſt on the Roofs of ſome low Houſes near the Water ſide.

We hear from Lancaſter, That on the 3d Inſtant died there, John Houghton, Eſq; in the 87th Year of his Age; who has left behind him the Character of a religious, peaceable and uſeful Man; and has left a numerous Offſpring, there being now alive of his Children Seven, of his Grand Children Fifty-four, and of his Great Grand-Children Seventy-three; in all 134.

Boſton, March 8. The following is an Extract of a Letter from the Maſter of a Veſſel, to his Owners in this Town, by Capt. Walker, from London, dated Alexandria, Auguſt 1, 1736.

Gentlemen,

WHEN I arrived here, I found the Plague reigning to a great Degree; and altho' this Place is ſmall, there died from 70 to 90 a Day, for ſeveral Months. And at Grand Cairo, a neighbouring City, there died, for ſeveral Months running, near Three Thouſand a Day, and for Three Days together, Five Thouſand each Day; a Thing ſeemingly incredible, but very true. A great Number have died out of the Ships lying here, eſpecially the French Ships; and yet, thro' GOD's great Goodneſs, I have not loſt one Man, tho' we have all been very ill.

Both the abovemention'd Places are in Egypt, and ſubject to the Turks.

Boſton, March 15. We have an Account from Antigua, That there has been 60 Negroes executed there, on Account of their late Conſpiracy; that many of the Executions were by Burning, and the Rack, which many of them endured with Obduracy. Four of theſe Wretches were hung up on Gibbets in Irons, in a Quadrangle, ſo that they cou'd ſee and ſpeak to one another; and they blamed themſelves for not putting their intended Deſign in Execution ſooner: One of theſe was taken down, on his Promiſe of making great Diſcoveries, after he had endured his Torments to the Seventh Day; but when he was nurs'd up, was as ſtubborn as ever; and for that Reaſon ſuffered a ſecond Time. Among thoſe that were burnt, there was one Grey with Age, that had but one Leg. The Number of thoſe yet to be tried, may be partly conjectur'd; for there were Forty odd confin'd on Board of Capt. Sutliff's Veſſel, for want of Priſon room. One of thoſe miſerable Creatures, during his Confinement, by ſome Means or other got a Knife; but being handcuff'd and pinion'd ſo as not able to come at his Throat, ſtabb'd himſelf in 7 or 8 Places; but the Pain of his Wounds caus'd him to make ſome unuſual Noiſe, whereby he was diſcover'd, and immediately brought to the Wheel and broke. On the Day of Capt. Davis's Departure, Two Free Negros were brought to their Trial, whoſe Eſtates are ſuppos'd to be worth 2000 l. each. The People are much harraſs'd with Watching; for it comes to every White Man's Turn to be on his Guard, and exerciſe his Arms, once in 4 Days.

By the Report of the Gentlemen appointed by the Governor and Council of Antigua, to examine into the Affair of the ſaid Conſpiracy, it appears, That after the Execution of 12 of the chief Conſpirators, frequent Saturday Nights Meetings of great Numbers of Conſpirators, had been for a great while held at ſeveral Places; and that by drinking a Health in Rum, or ſome other Liquors, mixt with Grave Dirt, and ſometimes Cocks-blood infuſed, an Oath of Secrecy and Fidelity had been taken by many Hundred Slaves, whereof the Words were various; but the Tenor was to ſtand by and be true to each other, and to kill the Whites, Man, Woman, and Child; to aſſiſt in the Execution of this when called upon by the Chiefs, and to ſuffer Death, rather than diſcover.

Extract of a Letter from Andover, in New-England, March 15.

UPON Saturday laſt Four Men croſſing Merrimack River, one of them (the Ice breaking under him,) fell in: A Dog, belonging to one of the Company, obſerving it, immediately repair'd to his Aſſiſtance, faſtned at once, with his Teeth, upon one of his Arms, and endeavour'd to pull him out of the Water: The diſtreſſed Man, thus aſſiſted by the kind Dog, raiſed himſelf upon the Ice, which again brake under him; the Dog kept his Hold of him, and with all his Strength, ſtrove to pull him out a ſecond Time; upon which he raiſed himſelf as before; but the Ice yet failed him, and he fell in a Third Time, the Dog having yet Hold of him: Upon which, one of the Company had ſo much Courage as to approach near enough to take hold of his other Arm, whereby the poor Man's Deliverance was compleated. It was obſerved, that the ſaid wonderful Dog kept Hold of the Man till he was 3 or 4 Rods from the Place of Danger.

Boſton, March 28. Capt. Warren, Commander of his Majeſty's Ship Squirrel, ſtationed here, intends to ſail To morrow, to join his Majeſty's Ship of War at New-York, Commanded by Capt. Norris, and others, in order to proceed to South-Carolina, to defend that Place and Georgia, from the Inſults of the Spaniards, ſhou'd there be Occaſion for it. Tho' by our laſt Advices from Carolina, we have no great Reaſon to fear a Breach with 'em, in theſe Parts.

By a Letter from Bermuda, via South Carolina, dated Feb. 17th, we are inform'd, "That they were under great Fears of wanting Bread, there not being a "Buſhel of Corn to be ſold in all the Iſland, and that "unleſs they had a ſpeedy Supply, there would be a "Famine, not being a Week's Proviſion in the Iſland, "and that a great many poor People had, for ſome "Time, lived on Herbs.

From South Carolina, March 9, we are inform'd, That they had no farther Account of the Spaniards; that their Soldiers were yet in Pay, and a Veſſel kept out a Cruizing on their Coaſts, and their Forts Repairing, &c.

A Paragraph of a Letter, from a Merchant of Note in South Carolina, to one in this Town, dated the 7*th of March,* 1736.

'I Am of Opinion, the Deſign and Intention of the Spaniards, ſo much talk'd of, is only a Rumour, 'and that there is nothing in it, at leaſt againſt this 'Province: However, it will be a Means of getting our 'Fortifications put into good Order, which is very much 'wanted.

Mr. Parks,

PLeaſe to let the Tradeſman (who propos'd a Queſtion in your Gazette, N°. 59) know, that if he will divide his Weight of 27 Pound into the following Weights, they will ſerve his Purpoſe, viz. 1. 3. 9. 14.

To anſwer any Queſtion of this Sort, let the leaſt Weight be One Pound, and every other Weight be the double of the Sum of all the Weights leſs than itſelf, and One Pound more, as far as the Number propos'd will admit; or let the Weight be in a geometrical Progreſſion, beginning with Unity, the Ratio being Three. Suppoſe 100 was the Number propos'd, then the Weights will run thus, 1. 3. 9. 27. 60. the Progreſſion being continued to the Fourth Term, and their Sum taken from the given Number, leaves 60 for the laſt.

Williamsburg, May 20. His Honour the Governor, by and with the Advice of His Majeſty's Council, of this Colony, has been pleas'd further to prorogue the General Aſſembly, (which ſtood prorogued to the 12th Inſtant) to Thurſday the 28th Day of July next.

We hear from Glouceſter, That Mr. Charles Tomkies, Practitioner of Phyſick and Surgery, died on Sunday was Se'nnight, at his Houſe in that County. He had been many Years a Juſtice of the Peace, was a skilful Man in his Profeſſion, juſt and honeſt in his Principles, and was very well belov'd by his Neighbours, and Acquaintance, by whom his Death is much lamented.
